

LUNCH ROOM AT Y OPENS TODAY

Long-Felt Want at Big Institution Will Be Thrown Open to Public Today—Meals to Be Served Out-of-Doors

An added feature and one that will be gladly welcomed by the 250 or more business men who have gym classes at noon, at the Y. M. C. A. will be added to that institution today, when the new restaurant recently installed will be opened.

Since the closing of the membership campaign, there has been some trouble taking care of the business men who have classes after business hours. Disgruntled wives who have had to keep meals waiting, have complained against this procedure. Secretary Harry Blair always ready and capable of meeting most any obstacle overcame this one, by changing the classes to noon, and making it possible to serve a light lunch afterwards. By this means, the partakers of both exercise and meals, will return to work invigorated instead of feeling the usual bad effects of a heavy meal.

The new feature is not for the comfort of this class of men only. Meals, of the light variety will be served from ten o'clock in the morning to ten at night. C. K. Chillberg, formerly in charge of the lunch at the City Drug store has been installed as the head of this department. He is thoroughly acquainted with this line of restaurant work.

A soda fountain has been installed, cold drinks and ice cream will be dispensed at all hours of the day.

Another accommodation brought out by the starting of the lunch room, is the making of the Y a place to hold all sorts of committee meetings at which luncheons may be served. Hitherto this facility has been lacking, and lunches and spreads had to be toted in from nearby restaurants.

The meals will be served on the spacious back veranda, where the sun is never bothersome. In inclement weather, the diners may eat inside.

AMERICAN CITIZEN IN AUSTRIAN ARMY

Anton Gold Caught While Visiting in Dalmatia

Anton Gold, a resident of this city for several years, is said to be fighting unwillingly for his former Fatherland, Austria, a most unwilling son. He is reported to be in one of the armies of Austria either trying to hold the Russians back in the Carpathian passes or else operating in Serbia or Montenegro. At any rate, it is known that Mr. Gold is not here, and that he has left no one to look after his extensive property interests here, including the Lemon hotel property.

Some time before the outbreak of the war, in fact, before the assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand, Mr. Gold, with his family, went back for a summer's visit with relatives in Dalmatia whom he had not seen since he was a very young man. He expected to return to Phoenix in the early fall of last year.

Word has reached here through an Italian friend that Mr. Gold is in the Austrian army, notwithstanding he is a naturalized American citizen and a most reluctant soldier.

His unfortunate predicament was the result of Americanizing or Anglicizing his name before he Americanized himself. His name, when he came to America was Anton Slatar, "Slatar" meaning "gold." Thus he became known as Gold long before he was naturalized. In his naturalization papers the name of Slatar does not appear, and the American diplomatic officers in Austria were therefore unable to assist him.

His Italian friend was informed some months ago of his situation, and as no word has since been received from him, it is presumed that he is in the army.

BULLARD'S CAR FOUND WHERE IT WASN'T LOST

G. Purdy Bullard temporarily lost one perfectly good Cole automobile last night, and it was only after considerable activity had been induced among members of the motorcycle corps of policemen that the missing car was located. It was just where the amiable race promoter had left it.

Mr. Bullard deposited the car on Washington street between First and Second street. He looked for it on Adams street between Second and Third. Before he remembered to look on the main thoroughfare, he had caused a deal of anxiety among the motorcycle policemen, who sleuthed the entire neighborhood in search of the big touring car.

and means to send substantial aid to those who lost their all by the breaking of the dams. Although only meager information has been received here P. C. Gettins, member of the Rotary relief committee, in a long distance message from St. Johns, ascertained that approximately eleven families are destitute, having lost all in the flood. This information was laid before the committee last night, and it was decided to ask for contributions of groceries, clothing and cash for the flood sufferers.

"We hope that citizens will not wait for the committee to call on them in person," said F. E. Rich, chairman of the relief committee last night.

"Any citizen having new clothing or food supplies to send, are asked to call the Lighting Delivery or Chambers Transfer company, both of which concerns will transport the goods to the depot free of charge. It is expected that the Santa Fe railroad company will carry the supplies without charge, and it is possible that the same arrangement will be made by the Wells Fargo Express company. Contributions of cash will be very acceptable."

Persons are urged to call Chairman Rich at 1870, Gettins at 413 or W. W. Edwards at 731.
